Welcome to Global Youth Summit 2015.

Welcome to PA-2015 GYS, called to share: my gifts, your gifts!

We hope this event will bless you and we thank you for sharing your gifts, stories of how you live your faith in context, joys and sorrows, Above all, we are pleased that together we can bring a global faith family closer together in the love of Christ. Do not miss the opportunity to live with other people, although not all will speak your language, to pray together, to hear, and to embrace. Perhaps a little word, or a sincere gesture can be very comforting. Enjoy this time and when you return home, share with your local church how the Lord has blessed you.

May the Lord bless our time together!
WELCOME!

About Messiah

Messiah College is nationally recognized for bringing together top-tier academics and Christian faith. Our motto, "Christ Preeminent," shapes every experience our students have. Lifelong friendships. Support from faculty mentors. Outstanding preparation for life and career. Championship athletics. Celebrated arts programs. Transformational service and ministry. Eye-opening study abroad. At Messiah your life, your faith, your world and your possibilities open up.

About GYS

(GYS) is a meeting of young Anabaptists ages 18 and older from the entire world. Young people will come together 16-19 July at Messiah College in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. These three days are a time of listening to God together, to share information and experiences, to listen to each other's struggles in the different continents and countries, to bless each other and be blessed and to enrich the faith of all.

Workshop Descriptions

Friday 17th

14:30-16:00

Travel for Transformation: Encountering Jesus in the Real World of Israel & Palestine

Rachelle Lyndaker Schlabach, Dorothy Jean Weaver
Frey Academic Building, Alexander Auditorium

This workshop will introduce the participants to the concept of “alternative tourism” as a significant way to encounter the Holy Land: the land of Jesus’ birth (Bethlehem), childhood (Nazareth), ministry (Galilee), and suffering/death/resurrection (Jerusalem). The workshop will focus on the theme of “travel for transformation” through personal encounter not only with 1st-century biblical sites but also with the 21st-century “real world” of Israel/Palestine and the personal, societal, and even geopolitical challenges presented by this “real world.” And it will highlight the theme of “encountering Jesus” as travelers encounter both the 1st-century sites and the 21st-century “real world.”

Anabaptist Witness in Christian / Muslim Relations

David Shenk, Grace Shenk, Andres Prins, Sheryl Martin, Jonathan Bornman Boyer, #131

Starting with the testimony of Michael Sattler, Anabaptists have desired to bear witness that Jesus offers peace and salvation and empowers his disciples to be peacemakers. Dialogue, witness, hospitality and peacemaking must be at the center of all fruitful encounters of Christians with Muslims.

War, Conscience and Jesus’ Way of Peace

Titus Peachy

Frey Academic Building, #150

What do you believe about war, peace and the way of Jesus? Through interactive exercises, biblical study and stories from around the world, we will explore how young people respond to a nation’s call to military service. Come with your questions!

Estad Firmes

Ronald Chauca

Boyer, #231

“Estad Firmes” es un sermón que se ha compartido en las diferentes iglesias Hermanos Menonitas en el Perú con el propósito de brindar al pueblo cristiano un mensaje de aliento y fortaleza en tiempos de crisis y transición. El bosquejo consta de cinco partes: 1) Firmes en la fe; 2) Firmes en la libertad; 3) Firmes en la Unidad; 4) Firmes en la obra del Señor y 5) Firmes en la prueba

Mosaic in Missions: Young Adults from different cultures working as one team

Troy Landis

Boyer, #331

More than at any other time in history, the church is now a global body. EMM's YES teams have adapted by including participants from different cultures on the same team. Living and serving together as one team has proven to be both an incredibly challenging and rewarding experience. Alumni will be sharing their experiences of discipleship and mission as members of cross-cultural teams. We will use their experiences as a springboard into discussion of how the different parts of the global church can work as peers on one team.

Pursuing Social Justice in our World - Get Involved!

Andrea Geiser & Wade Snowdon

Boyer, #130

As Christians we are called to act justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with our God (Micah 6:8). What does this actually look like? Reflecting on themes of Isaiah 58:6-10, come explore biblical concepts of social justice and learn how other young adults have stepped out in faith in the pursuit of a just world. Learn ways that you can also be involved by building bridges of understanding and peace between peoples around the world through programs such as YAMEN, IVEP & SALT!.

Conscientious objection in the twenty-first century: dialogue of experiences and contexts (Part 1) Maria Eugenia Leon & Andres Pacheco Lozano

Boyer, #235

The persistence and resurgence of armed conflict in the world – potential or real – cause the phenomenon of the recruitment of young people into armed groups (legal or illegal) to remain constant. This situation especially touches youth who for reasons of conscience based on faith or ethics do not want to be recruited nor trained for the military. The choice of this nonviolent life style (conscientious objection) has been a fundamental axis in Anabaptist tradition and history since the sixteenth century, and it is possible to see today examples of young people and communities who, in different parts of the world, appeal to, demand and protect the right to conscientious status with all the challenges and risks that this implies. The experiences of conscientious objection in Colombia and South Korea will be explored in the proposed seminar.

Walking with God at the United Nations (part 1)

Doug Hostetter

Boyer #336

This workshop, led by former MWC interns and the Mennonite Central Committee United Nations Office Director, will describe the collaborative work of the MCC and MWC at the United Nations. We will describe how the MCC UN Office works through participation in conferences, briefings and seminars as well as face to face meetings with diplomats to be the voice at the United Nations of MCC global partners including the worldwide Mennonite Church. Former MCC UN Office MWC interns will describe how the Internship has shaped them and how persons interested in future internships could apply.

What kind of Mission Organization is needed today? (part 1)

Rod Hallinger-Jenzen

Boyer #335

Jesus asks us to love our neighbor, care for the needy and build up Christ's body. How might we best do this today? What kind of organizations do we need? What are the best ways to respond to needs and follow Jesus' call? How might Mennonite youth today be motivated to follow Jesus into mission? We will share together about these and similar questions

Being People of Faith Crossing Cultures – An Aussie American Reflects

Moriah Hurst

Boyer #230

What does it mean to be the people of God across cultures? Ideas and thoughts from living bi-culturally and figuring out what things like dominance, equality, valuing who you are and where you come from might look like in daily life. Reflecting on what it is like to follow a God who has created us differently yet in community with each other across cultures.

How do I share my faith with Muslims?

David Shenk, Grace Shenk, Andres Prins, Sheryl Martin, Jonathan Bornman

Frey Academic Building, Alex Auditorium

Get equipped to be clear about your identity, to practice hospitality, and to give clear responses to the four main questions that Muslims ask whenever they meet with Christians.

The power within: Advocacy for social justice

Rachel Lyndaker Schlabach

Frey Academic Building, #150

You can be a strong advocate for social justice in your community and beyond. In this interactive workshop, learn how advocacy to government officials can be a nonviolent tool to address injustice and witness to God's call for justice in our world. The ultimate goal is to inspire and motivate the young participants to be advocates for themselves and others, both within their own communities and beyond.

A look at the Mennonite Churches in one small USA city:
Lancaster, PA

Paul Brubaker

Boyer, #131

Church historian Philip Jenkins says that the center of gravity of Christianity is shifting Southward—and that this shift is happening in North America too. He notes that the global church is increasingly urban, of people-of-color, poorer, more charismatic, and more conservative morally and theologically. I photographed all the Mennonite churches (documentary photography/photojournalism) in one small city, Lancaster, PA—and wonder if Jenkins is predictive of American Mennonites too.

Show, Share, Connect (European Mennonite Youth Network)

Jan Willem Stenvers, Jasper Pondman, Janneke Leerink

Boyer, #331

How can we build a bridge to each other as Mennonites from around the world? How can we make connections? In this workshop we will try to Show our Mennonite backgrounds to each other, Share our stories and opinions, and find ways to Connect with one another. We will literally build a bridge with marshmallows and we will look for connections in our Mennonite background. We will use the data, the way of presentation and ambitions of the Eumen.net-project as an example of using digital media to create a Mennonite Network.

Fully Engaged and Fully Present: The art of mindfulness Julia Dunst

Boyer, #130

Choosing to be fully present is a gift we can give to ourselves and others. It is bringing our best self forward. Mindfulness overcomes our ever growing distance between people due to outside influences such as social media, diversity, and conflict. Hands on Skills and practice to increase our awareness of others.

Peace Amongst Disappointing dreams

Tina Newson

Boyer, #231

This workshop is built on the foundation that peace begins within. Peace comes when we know we are loved. We were designed to walk intimately with our God and our fellow humans. When this happens in healthy ways then the by-product is inner peace that will transform our hearts, our behaviors and our world. However, too many times our experience of God's love is an intellectual exercise sprinkled with the occasional kumbaya warm fuzzy. There are blockades within that stop us from experiencing fullness of life. These blockades often involve incidents that are disappointing at least and devastating at worse. What we do with our disappointment is important. During our workshop time we will examine how The Disciples handled life when their hopes were dashed and how God met them in their honesty. Scripture consistently shows how God shows up in unexpected ways for His people in their time of despair. Ultimately the goal of this workshop is to help participants to identify blockades that hinder their growth with God and community so that peace may prevail.

Interfaith Issues for Global Mennonites (Part 1)

Dorothy Yoder

Frey Academic Building, #150

This workshop examines interfaith respect, dialogue, God-concept, worship, scripture, and story. Through presentation and case studies we will discuss conviction of Christian faith alongside openness to similarity and difference with Hindus, Buddhists, and Sikhs.

Conociendo y testificando a mi vecino musulman

Andres Prins

Boyer, #130

Quienes son los musulmanes? Que creen? Cuando y donde se originaron? Cuales son sus practicas? Como puedo relacionarme con ellos, dar testimonio de Cristo, responder a sus preguntas y objeciones, construir puentes de paz y amistad?

Service en route: the gift of alternative transportation

Lyubov Slashcheva + panel

Boyer, #336

This workshop will explore how we may share transportation, a very necessary and basic part of our life, with others in service. A panel of individuals will share their lived experience and youth perspective on alternative modes of transportation, including bus, train, bike, and carpool. Several resources will be offered to aid in being conscious about transportation choices and the audience will be invited to discuss opportunities for our transportation to serve as a gift to us and others.

Be a Nelson' - MasterPeace

Janneke Leerink, Janneke Timmerman, Jan Willem Stenvers

Boyer, #335

Everyone can be a 'Nelson'! Once Mr Nelson Mandela was just a boy named Nelson, a boy who decided to not be indifferent and to start working for social change.

We want to show the Mennonite youth, how easy it is to be a Nelson and become a real 'MasterPeacer'. We will show examples of a group of Dutch Mennonite Youth who organized events and actions to raise money for and tell people about the MasterPeace. In an active way we will show you how this organisation can help you with giving a contribution to peace.

Jesus in a World of Many Religions

David Shenk

Frey Academic Building, Alex Auditorium

In various ways every religion is a quest for the answer to three basic questions: Why am I her; where am I going; How can I be forgiven for my shortcoming? What are some examples of answers to those three questions? What answers does Jesus give to each of these three universal questions?

GAMEO - Anabaptist Wiki

Elizabeth Miller, John D. Roth

Boyer, #230

In the past decade several internet-based resources have emerged that enable users throughout the world to access lots of information about the global church. The Global Anabaptist-Mennonite Encyclopedia Online (GAMEO – www.gameo.org) is an online encyclopedia that is growing everyday with the addition of new articles. The Anabaptistwiki (www.anabaptistwiki.org) offers a large collection of historical documents and allows you to preserve your church's archival records by posting them online. This workshop will provide an introduction to these resources. More importantly, discover how you can contribute!

Identity in God

Fernando dos Santos de Souza

Boyer, #231

We are a generation called the generation of the “broken heart”. People are running desperate looking for their basic needs such as security, self-esteem and meaning - needs that God created in us - but we are using wrong ways to meet it. Many already are leaders, but still struggling for identity search and acceptance and often has used its ministry, its position as a solution to address this void. We are not loved by God for what we do, but by what we are. Only in God, I can understand who I am and why I was born.

Where are the buggies? Amish and other plain people forming the unseen half of Anabaptists in the USA

Academic Building, Alex Auditorium

Ken Sensenig

Anabaptist groups with distinctive clothing and other visible ways of separating themselves from the “world” are among the fastest growing Anabaptist groups in the USA. The Amish are the largest and most visible of these groups. These “plain” groups now have church fellowships in 30 countries, but few members will attend the MWC global assembly. This interactive session will explore who these people are and why they embrace this alternative to modern life. How plain people share their gifts with the global community will be noted.

Dancing with and for the King

Karina Bogarin

Boyer, #231

There are many forms of worshipping God and one of them is through corporate art. The ministry of tambourine and ribbons, in addition to beautifying the praise, exalts the name of God and reflects his majesty, destroys the works of the enemy, and in dancing with ribbons, we remind the Lord of the promises that He has given us through the beautiful meanings behind each different ribbon color, and also with the tambourine. "Praise him with tambourine and dance..." Psalm 150.4. It is vital that the churches of the twenty-first century can have this ministry in order to grow creatively with our King.

Storytelling in your Local Church Context

Elizabeth Miller

Boyer, #235

Much valuable church history is contained in the memories of church members and elders. Learn how to solicit and collect testimonies of risk, opposition, suffering and sacrifice from within your local church community, using the techniques of oral history. The workshop will also introduce the Bearing Witness Stories Project, an initiative to collect and share testimonies of costly discipleship to Jesus in the Anabaptist tradition.

Different Truth Centers

David Shenk, Grace Shenk, Andres Prins, Sheryl Martin, Jonathan Bornman

Boyer, #131

When Christians and Muslims meet they discover both similarities and differences in belief and practice. At the core, they live from different centers of truth. Understanding these different centers helps Christ-followers communicate clearly and develop real relationships with Muslims.

Sharing our gifts - The World Council of Churches' Call to an ecumenical Pilgrimage of Justice and Peace

Fernando Enns, Rebecca Froese, Iris Speckmann

Boyer, #335

In November 2013 the World Council of Churches (WCC) met in Busan, South Korea for its X. Assembly. Mennonite delegates were key to initiate the new programmatic framework for all future WCC activities: a "Pilgrimage of Justice and Peace". Every person, organization and church is encouraged to explore what such a Pilgrimage of Justice and Peace might entail, within a given context, socially, economically, environmentally and in regard to their local and global relationships. During this workshop Mennonite participants of the WCC Assembly in Busan will share their experiences and introduce theological background, practical implications and opportunities for Mennonites to participate in that future Pilgrimage. Participants of the workshop will be invited to dialogue and join this pilgrimage and also to share their experiences or wishes for the future ecumenical community.

Sharing new worship music from the Bhutanese-Nepali Church of Lancaster

Paul Brubaker

Frey Academic Building, #150

The worship music leading team at the Bhutanese-Nepali Church of Lancaster is composed of young people and young adults, led by Deepak Ral. They are writing many new worship songs, in both English and Nepali. This workshop will give them a forum to share their music. We will sing together songs that we share across many of our churches; they will teach us some new music; and they will share more of their songs and dances from their worship services.

Women Building Peace in Colombia: Resolution 1325

Leidy Muñoz, Chatelle Garber

Boyer, #336

The workshop proposes sharing the life stories of community process with women victims of the social and political conflict in Colombia, who are empowered by their role as peacemakers. The project began with an institutional focus, and combines the strengthening and consolidation of their learning about their human rights as women, including the rights to truth, justice and restoration, with analysis and debate in order to strengthen peace proposals, systematization of experiences, and participation of the women in events, encounters, mobilizations and forums in favor of peace and women's rights; accompanied by strategies of promotion, disclosure and visibility. The women participate in a process of integral formation in themes such as:

- Life plan worked at from their own abilities and resources
- Legal framework for demanding rights
- Processes for community organization, peace-building, reconciliation and conflict resolution. Strategies for political and community incidents.

Social Media: a means to connect globally

Kristina Toews

Boyer, #230

In every part of the world, more and more people have access to mobile technology, internet and social media. These factors change how we communicate, as in real time we can connect with, support and pray for brothers and sisters in any part of the world. This workshop will hear stories of how MWC, and churches in different parts of parts of the world, are using social media in positive ways, to connect our global community so we can support and learn from each other. This is an interactive workshop with time for feedback, group discussion, ideas, and suggestions.
